

American Academy of Arts and Sciences

280 Newton Street

Brookline Station, Boston 46, Massachusetts

Telephone: JAmica 2-2400

May 15, 1970

Professor Joshua Lederberg
Department of Biology
Stanford University
Stanford, California

Dear Professor Lederberg:

This is to inquire whether you may be interested and able to attend a "Pugwash Symposium" on "Science, Technology and Development" tentatively scheduled to be held at Stanford University on September 1-4, 1970. The enclosed background paper and agenda explain the origin and planned structure of the Symposium. Our hope is to discuss substantial matters such as population and nutrition and "intermediate technology" from the point of view of possible mechanisms and institutions to which scientific communities of developed and developing countries could best contribute their talents.

Any critical remarks you would care to contribute concerning this program will be gratefully received.

We would appreciate a reply at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,

Eugene Rabinowitch, President
Pugwash International Programs, 1969-70
American Academy of Arts and Sciences

ER:bsd

My phone yep, if here.

AAAS

RABINOWITCH

"PUGWASH"

Sept 1-4, 1970